Hitler in Panic Near War's End

Papers Show Reich in Full Military Defeat; Find Staff Records.

LONDON. — The downfall of the third reich was brought about by utter national deterioration and total military defeat, a British admiralty report says. Its conclusions were based on captured documents which lay to rest forever the legend of an unconquerable German army.

"Germany suffered total military defeat, and there was no possibility of ascribing that defeat to anything except military conquest," the report said.

Documents which detail the fuehrer conferences between Hitler and his staff in the final weeks of the war, form the basis for the report. The papers were among the German archives captured by British and American intelligence officers and contained a day-by-day account of confusion and panic in the German high command.

The beginning of the end was in early 1945, when shortages of coal, manpower, and oil made Germany's situation desperate.

Shows Self Up.

"By the beginning of 1945 Hitler's ability had deteriorated and he showed himself quite incapable of viewing the war situation as a whole," the report said.

"Where one would expect to find an acceptance of military defeat leading to plans being made for guerrilla warfare and for continuing the fight underground there are instead nothing but a series of tactical schemes for bolstering individual sections of the three fronts, neither related to nor coordinated with any general strategy.

"The conferences give a clear picture of Hitler and his staff desperate and so harassed that they could not think beyond the immediate requirements of battle."

Hitler ordered his "scorched earth" policy sent to all commands on March 19.

Indicating dissension in the German army, Hitler on March 27 ordered an investigation of officers occupying the posts of fort commanders in the Channel Islands. He said these should be filled mainly by naval officers, "since many fortresses have been given up, but no ships were ever lost without fighting to the last man."

To add to Hitler's confusion, General Eisenhower, on March 31, issued "instruction to the wehrmacht (German army)," advising the German troops to surrender.

U-Boats a Flop.

After long trials Germany's vaunted new U-boats were ready for operation at the end of March. However, during the last five weeks of the war Allied advances squeezed the U-boats out of the Baltic ports. In April, 57 of the U-boats were lost, the highest monthly total for the war.

The new U-boats were virtually useless because of the fuel shortage.

The manpower shortage and lack of arms also had become desperate.

"Allied troops pressed on into the center of Germany, and the position of the wehrmacht became hopeless . . . but as the disorganization in Germany increased . . . Hitler's armies and air forces that he so diligently moved into action were nothing more than colored pins on a map."

Hitler's orders convinced Goering of his insanity and he attempted to take over the leadership. Hitler ordered Goering's execution, the report said, but Goering was only relieved of his command. In the meantime Hitler received press reports that Himmler had sued for peace with Britain and the United States and ordered Doenitz to take "immediate and decisive action" against those in North Germany.

Two Men Exchange Wives After Double Divorce Suit

MISSOULA, MONT. — Marcus Daly III, grandson of the late Marcus Daly, early Montana copper mining magnate, was a principal in friendly wife-switching ceremonies here.

District Judge C. E. Comer granted divorces to Daly and Harold J. Clark, Montana State university student, from their wives, Janice MacKellary Daly and Florice W. Clark, on almost identical charges of cruelty.

The four then stepped across the courthouse hall and Justice of the Peace Ralph L. Starr married Daly to Mrs. Clark and Clark to Mrs. Daly. The four newlyweds left in Daly's car.

Priority to Be Given Vets' Job Complaints, Says Chief

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach set up priorities for handling veterans' complaints against employers accused of failure to grant them re-employment rights under the selective service law.

Schwellenbach announced that he had temporarily assigned conciliation commissioners and field representatives of the apprentice training service to handle the veterans' re-employment cases, which have been piling up at the rate of 3,500 a month. He said the commissioners would give priority to these cases over the other tasks of the conciliation and apprentice services.

Indian Leader Now World's Richest Man

Nizam of Hyderabad Spends a Mere $20 Monthly.

LONDON. — A frail-looking, bespectacled Moslem who lives in India in a room 10 feet square and spends about $20 a month is the richest man on earth.

Outside his window in the courtyard is a bullock wagon loaded with gold. It is dust-covered and derelict. Twenty years ago it was driven to the spot where it has remained ever since. No one has even bothered to unload the gold bars.

The richest man on earth is so wealthy that his viziers cannot compute his worth.

But they believe that his exalted highness, Rustam-I-Duran 'Arastu-Zaman, Lt. Gen. Muzaffar-Ul-Mulk, Nizam of Hyderabad, has an annual income of about 50 million dollars.

He has more jewels of note than are contained in all the other big collections in the world, combined.

Years ago he was estimated to be worth three billion dollars—or about three times as rich as the late Henry Ford. The Indian leader's wealth is much greater today.

Great Britain's richest man, Sir John Ellerman, is still under 40. He inherited vast shipping enterprises which have increased in value since his father died in 1933 leaving a will which listed 160 million dollars in assets.

Emil Georg Buehrle of Switzerland reputedly is worth 15 million dollars.

When asked how much money he had, Buehrle replied that a multi-millionaire seldom could keep count after the first few million.

Youngster Sweats for 2 Hours in Unused Icebox

OMAHA.—A small pool of water under the drain of an unused icebox and a youngster's curiosity about it was credited with having saved 4-year-old Tommy and his parents from suffocation.

The youngster spent two hours locked in the unused box before his brother, Jimmy, 11, saw the pool of water underneath and opened the door to investigate. Inside, Tommy was crouched, soaking wet with perspiration.

Tommy was hesitant to show his parents how he got in the box, Mrs. McEvoy said, and had to be reassured he wouldn't get trapped again.

After the demonstration, Mrs. McEvoy added, the icebox doors were knocked off.

Evaded Taxes 20 Years, Now Must Pay $605,000

SAN FRANCISCO.—Moses Goldman, 56, prominent Petaluma, Calif., merchant and civic leader, was assessed $605,000 for failing to file income-tax returns for 20 years.

Treasury agents called it "the most unusual case in history of the department."

Goldman was ordered held for sentencing after pleading guilty to evading payment of $135,135 in taxes for the last two years.

The treasury department then assessed Goldman $605,000 in back taxes and penalties for failure to file returns since 1927, and seized $288,000 bank account in part payment.

Goldman's attorneys protested, saying that in effect Goldman had "worked his entire life for the government" and was now bankrupt.

In addition to the tax penalties, Goldman faces a one-year prison term and $10,000 fine on each of the two counts.

Develop Four New Steels For Planes, Heavy Autos

PITTSBURGH.—Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, a United States Steel corporation subsidiary, announced development of four new steels for use in the aircraft and heavy automotive industries.

The new steels are tradenamed "superkore" to emphasize the high core strength produced when parts are given surface-hardening treatment.

The new steels are said to offer a considerable saving in the cost of providing at a high level of safety and service the gears, shafts and pinions which are so vital to the operation of planes, busses, trucks and heavy-duty industrial machinery.

The new materials were designed in the light of the war-taught doctrine of getting the most out of every last ounce of alloying elements, company officials said.

German Women Are Sent To Russian Uranium Mines

BERLIN — The Soviet-controlled newspaper Nacht Express said the Russians were putting hundreds of German women to work in uranium mines in Southern Saxony, near the Czechoslovakian border.

The Russian-authorized report followed unconfirmed rumors that many German men were going into hiding to escape compulsory labor in the mines. The Soviets are reported working the mines at top speed to advance their atomic research.

Unofficial reports have said that many of the men employed in the mines lived in closely guarded barracks surrounded by wire fences.

How to Prevent Date With Big Farm Fire

Thirty-five hundred farmers who lived happily on their farms a year ago are dead, largely victims of their own carelessness. They decided to "live" with fire hazards and lost. With them went almost 100 million dollars in farm property.

In one year 18,000 fires started in newspapers, magazines and other rubbish. Flammable liquids, improperly stored or handled, caused 26,000 fires. Electric cords and other defective electrical equipment caused 31,000 fires. Dirty stoves, lamps and lanterns caused 16,000 fires. Some 39,000 fires started on flammable wood shingle roofs. Dirty chimneys were responsible for 40,000 fires, and 50,000 fires originated in dirty and defective heating plants.

This farm fire could have been prevented if proper care had been taken.

The cures suggest themselves. If the farmers will clean up the outbuildings, farm machinery and the fields, and be careful with matches and smoking, there is little reason for worry about fire.

TWIRL OF YOUR DREAMS

What office would you like most to hold in school this term?", we asked the Hi-Style scouts. In turn, they asked all the gals they met in Allen's Alley (the halls between classes) and the $64 answer is "drum majorette." Being president of the senior class may have its good points, too —but what are they compared with being the cynosure of all eyes (including H-I-S) at every school game? As you lead the school band across the field, twirling your baton and lifting your heels high, you just know that life can be beautiful!

Tricks of the Twirl—We didn't know, till we consulted an expert, that there are at least four basic twirling techniques. There's the plain single baton twirling (elementary, my dear Watson), double baton twirling (now we're getting somewhere), flag twirling and even FIRE TWIRLING! Seems you wrap your baton in asbestos, dip it in gasoline, set fire to it and march down the field in a Blaze of Glory!

Teen Queen — You're the uncrowned queen of your campus if you're the Drum Majorette. Second to you are the Twirlers, who follow you in the parade. You wear the handsomest uniform of all, supplied by the school. It's usually in school colors and, if you have good legs, it doesn't do you any harm. If you haven't good legs, you better try out for the debating club.

Earn while you Learn — Good Twirlers turn a pretty penny teaching other hopefuls in school. We're told that the accepted price for twirling lessons is 50 cents per hour. Well, it's more glamourous than Baby Sitting. Professional teachers charge lots more—and, believe it or not, there are lots of them.

Twirling Goes National — There are Interschool State competitions and All-American National competitions for girls (and boys, too) who Twirl. Champions are the envy and idols of every twirling teen.

Rules and Routines—Don't think you just get up there and throw a baton around! You study different routines, the way a prima donna studies her operatic roles. And if you're the Terrific Twirler we hope you are, you're learning more and more routines to jazz tempos. It's the Twirling Trend.

Editor:

What has become of the praying people of our churches?

Twenty years ago during our revivals we had 15 minutes of prayer service and the members were invited to take a part. Our people would pray with tears running down their cheeks, unashamed before God and man and it seemed the gates of heaven were opened wide. Have the people of God forgotten how to pray? Can we have a real revival with the prayers of the preachers alone? Or, do the preachers think their prayers are sufficient for all? Is that why they fail to call on others? What will God's church of tomorrow be conducted by a people that has never been taught to pray. Who will answer at the judgment for them not being taught to pray?

—From a church member of 50 years.

Incensed at Movie Scene, Shanghai Barbers Strike

SHANGHAI — Two thousand of Shanghai's barbers laid aside their scissors and razors to continue their protest against a movie.

The barbers were incensed over a movie called "Phony Husband," in which diminutive actress Li Hau portrays a millionaire's concubine who flirts with a barber.

This, the demonstrators thought, was so unfair to organized barbers that they surrounded the movie house where the preview was scheduled and blocked the showing.
